Lisa May
Papermaker and Cast Paper Artist
Talk and Demonstration

Lisa May is a 3-dimensional paper artist who combines many materials into her unique and intricate work. She started using paper as an art form at the Art Student League in NYC many years ago and has never stopped.

Lisa manipulates and sculpts the wet pulp into cast forms that she then paints and decorates with collage elements. She is an Art Educator at the Newport Art Museum and exhibits her work throughout the region.

Come listen to Lisa talk about her work and do a papermaking demonstration.

Lisa will also be offering a class in Cast Paper Sculpture this summer at WAA.

This event is free and open to the public!
